The sun comes out for croquet

On an overcast evening, with the promise of rain Thesis Asset Management met Paul Jackson's Estate agents for the second croquet match of the season in aid of Oakhaven Hospice hosted by Moore Blatch on their lawn.

After a brief introduction made by members of Lymington Croquet Club, Margaret Skeldon and Diana Townsend, the Thesis teams of Henry Chamberlain and Gail Esterhuizen and David Tyerman and Jonathan Yousafzai took on the Paul Jackson's teams of Perry Letcher and Zoe McKee and Guy Darley and James Hoare

The Jackson teams started with exuberance and the second round of matches saw the sun come out and play becoming more competitive with the final match witnessing furious play between all pairings. The winners were Estate Agents James Hoare and Guy Darley with 14.7 points ahead of Asset managers David Tyerman and Jonathan Yousafzai on 13.8 points. In third place was Henry Chamberlain and Gail Esterhuizen with Perry Letcher and Zoe McKee in fourth.
